Another Lexington Murder.

Crazed by whisky and bent on wreaking vengeance against members of the white race, for whom he is alleged to have had an intense hatred, Aaron "Dubois" McCabe, a negro, rushed into the saloon of P. W. Green, on the corner of Mill and Water streets, at Lexington, about 12 o'clock Sunday morning and without a moment's warning began firing at Martin Clark, the barkeeper. A bullet pierced his heart and he sank to the floor behind the counter and expired instantly. About 20 persons were in the saloon at the time.

GIVE US LADDER TRUCK.

The Taxpayers of Paris Demand It at Once.

The City Council, at last meeting, instead of buying the much needed ladder truck to insure the safety of life and property to the taxpayers of the city, ordered the Mayor to purchase two ladders, one 35 and one 45 feet long. These ladders will of course be left at the engine house, and after the wagon makes a run to a fire, the wagon will return for them, in the meantime the fire will gain such headway that there will be no chance to save the house. If you have no money as claimed, wait until you get some on hand, don't throw any away by buying two ladders which will be practically useless. At one time the citizens were proud of the Fire Department but that time has passed because the interest then manifested by the Council has dwindled away. The taxpayers want a truck and their interest should be first considered. If it calls for another paid man, well enough, employ one. Don't wait until it is too late and then try to make some lame excuse.

OLD FUED RENEWED.

Thirty Shots Fired and One Man Wounded.

A fusillade of thirty shots in which one man was wounded Sunday night at Jackson marked a renewed outbreak of the fued spirit which has given so much trouble in Breathitt county. "Red" Tom Cokrell, Jake Noble and Tom Barnett besieged Beach Hargis, a relative of former County Judge James Hargis, in Harrison Hall. Barnett was wounded. The outbreak was precipitated by a brief quarrel between Hargis and Cokrell on the street an hour previous. Hargis was gotten safely to his home and further trouble averted.

MEETS HORRIBLE DEATH.

Mangled Body of Austin Miller Found in L. & N. Yards.

The body of Austin Miller, aged about 35 years, was found early Sunday morning in the L. & N. yards near Winchester crossing at the depot, in a crushed and mangled condition. His head was crushed into a pulp, his brains being scattered along the track, and both legs cut off below the knees. The body was picked up by the yard crew and Coroner Kenney notified, who ordered it taken to Geo. W. Davis' undertaking establishment, where it was prepared for burial.

There were different opinions in regard to how Miller was killed, some believing that he had been murdered and then placed on the track to cover up the crime. He was last seen about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night, and he had been drinking heavily all day. The reason for believing it to be murder was a long cut as by a knife, across his breast and side.

Miller had been working for Mr. W. O. Butler, near town, and has a wife and three-year-old daughter living in Winchester. He was the son of Thomas Miller, of Nicholas county, and has a brother living in this county. He was also a brother-in-law of Leroy McDowell, of this county.

"Exercise your strength along the right lines and you will find power."

Our tailors have found it. How? By learning the whole garment after they had it mastered and each exercising all his talent upon a specific part.

One found h's work in the Collar, another in the Sleeve, Pockets or Lapels, and so on, instead of trying for perfection in all things. So a garment of ours has the benefit of the might of seven specialists, each giving it all his cleverness and abnormally developed powers.

Let us prove our faith in the proposition by this—you may multiply the stock of the average shop in this town by three and still we have a greater diversity of New Spring Suits and Overcoats, both in models and fabrics.
